I congratulate the authors for their decision to improve their manuscript carefully and resubmit the revised version. The manuscript has been noticeably improved. I recommend the authors to choose stronger visualization style in their future works. Adding complementary information of any kind (in your study is e.g. thermal data) to the concluding plots (your cross sections), always, helps readers to understand and believe on the accuracy of the results.

Comments to the Author

The revised paper has answered the reviewer's questions. It is acceptable for publication in JASE.
