CONTEXT AND LANGUAGE LANGUAGE STRATEGIES: STRATEGIES OF THAI STUDENTS WITHIN REALMS OF LEARNING ENGLISH AND INDONESIAN

Authors:

Flora, Patuan Raja

Institutions:

FKIP Universitas Lampung

Content:

This study aimed at finding the strategies of Thai students within English and Indonesian learning during their study in Lampung, Indonesia. This study applied descriptive quantitative design. The subjects were 13 female Thai students taking bachelor degree in Indonesia. The instrument used was a variant of SILL. It was found that overall they used different strategies in learning the two languages in different contexts. The results are discussed in light of the previous research findings in relevance to those of this study.

Dear author,

My name is Rui Yao, please allow me to introduce myself as the promotional manager of Atlantis Press.

First of all, thank you for your conference papers that published in one of Atlantis Press's conference proceedings, which had received high downloads and visibility.

“Scholarly communication is about to change drastically.” We would like to emphasize that we fully support open science and are dedicated to promote innovations in sharing rapidly, openly and transparently. Please feel free to contact us when you need academic publishing solutions at:

- 1. When you or your institution/university is organizing an academic conference, with conference papers received but NOT YET officially published, read freely, archived, or able to be cited.
- 2. In some research area, especially in social science and humanities, we believe it might be more comfortable and explicit to write in Indonesia than English to publish in an international journal or conference proceedings.
- 3. If your lab/society/institution/university has a local language or English language journal, that would like to gain more international visibility and impact.

See the recent news about new Impact Factor and CiteScore of our journals:

<https://www.atlantis.press.com/news/2019-impact-factors-and-cites-for-atlantis-press-journals>.

We sincerely hope Atlantis Press would work as one of your academic partners to enable as much as valuable and quality research in Japan to receive higher visibility and impact, no matter published in English or Indonesia.

Please feel free to let me know if you have any questions.

About Atlantis Press

Since its inception Atlantis Press has launched and developed several book series containing more than 120 books (co-published with Springer-Nature), 15 proceedings series with over 1,100 proceedings and 19 open access journals across various STM disciplines. As a global open access publisher of scientific, technical and medical (STM) content, our content platform contains more than 125,000 published articles which are all open access (and hence freely accessible) and which generate more than 25 million downloads every year.

Since 2019, besides the headquarter in Paris and branch office in Amsterdam, Atlantis Press has set up a branch office in Beijing, China. This office mainly serves customers in the Asia-Pacific region and we're very welcome experts and scholars to consult at any time.

Follow Atlantis Press' official Twitter (@prmarketingAP), Facebook accounts (@AtlantisPress) and LinkedIn accounts (@Atlantis Press) for the latest news.

Best wishes,

Rui
