Comments to the Author

1. "State of the art" or novelty in the introduction is not clear. Authors need to explain the differences of research with the other research about "food diversification"
2. Authors need to explain the "key finding " from this research which is expected to give an impact on increasing of food diversification (Part Results and Discussion)
3. What is the impact of the findings of this study?
4. In Figure 2, authors need to use bilingual language or explain the local name (Many unpopular words and causing the reader to be difficult to understand the meaning of the article properly). Example: Combrow, Gethuk, Singkong Rebus and so on).
